

LOUISE MATHER BIO

Louise Mather is based in Glasgow, She makes films and takes pictures for arts and education institutions, ensembles, artists, multinationals and start ups. After learning how to use a camera through making videos with her band while they toured Europe in her early twenties, she actually started her film making and photography career by accident following an exaggeration of her skills during a job interview. She founded No Middle Name Creative in 2010 and since then has shot all over Europe for some of the most prestigious arts companies and occasional multinational.
